Paintings and Drawings, 2000-2010

By William Woodward

September 20 - December 31, 2010

A renowned muralist and Professor Emeritus of Fine Art at The George Washington University, Woodward's work has been commissioned by numerous venues in the Washington D.C. area, including the Lincoln National Monument, the Thomas Jefferson Visitors' Center at Monticello, and the corporate headquarters of Barnum and Bailey Combined Shows, Inc. in Tyson's Corner, Virginia.

Some of his most notable works include "The Great Odyssey of Medicine" at the Conference Center of Fairfax Inova Hospital, and "A Loudoun County Story" at the Thomas Balch Library in Leesburg, Virginia.

His painting "Avarice" was awarded 1st Prize at the 49th Annual Exhibition of Contemporary American Art at the Society of the Four Arts Museums, Palm Beach, Florida, in 1995.

A selection of paintings and drawings from the "Seven Deadly Sins" series is now on display at The GW Virginia Science and Technology Campus.
